

I REMEMBER

An evocative and beautiful story of reminiscence and cherished memories of family journeys through the vast Western Australian landscape

I Remember is an exquisite tale of memory. Set in the Geraldton area of Western Australia, an elderly woman remembers the camping trips of her childhood. As her recollections fade in and out, she is drawn to think about the elusiveness of what she can remember from so long ago.

Joanne Crawford moves away from a chronological narrative and skilfully conveys the excitement and anticipation of many camps. Packing up the family car, driving along dirt sand plains, stopping to marvel at wildflowers in bloom, baking damper, fishing, and listening to eerie sounds in the bush at night become memories that last a lifetime.

Kerry Anne Jordinson's illustrations have an ephemeral quality as she offers a glimpse into the beauty of the storyteller, old and young, and her family adventures through the vast West Australian landscape.

About the author

Joanne Crawford is descended from the Nhunda people of the Geraldton area of WA. She holds both a Bachelor of Arts in Education and a degree in Early Childhood Education, and has worked for many years on developing educational resources for school curriculums. Joanne is the author of A Home for Bilby (WA Premier's Award for Best Children's Book 2004) and Bilby and the Bushfire (both illustrated by Grace Fielding).

About the illustrator

Originally from the UK, Kerry Anne Jordinson is a self-taught artist and illustrator. She is passionate about the environment and loves to capture the beauty of the West Australian landscape in her lively drawings. Kerry Anne has written and illustrated several children's picture books, many of which celebrate the town of Broome where she lives.
